The men occupying the BIG POSITIONS today in any national sales organization are the men who connected with that organization at the right time.

This is the RIGHT TIME to make a connection with this Corporation—destined to be one of the largest office appliance corporations in the United States.

Our products, which are fully protected by patents, are manufactured for us under contract by the Colt's Patent Fire Arms Co. of Hartford, Conn. The Colt's contract for delivering during 1916 and 1920 aggregates nearly $5,000,000 of merchandise. In order to finance this merchandise we are selling a limited amount of our Preferred Stock, accompanied by a substantial bonus of Common Stock.

We believe you can make more money this year selling this stock than you ever made before, and next year, if your work has been satisfactory, you can step into a permanent position as District Manager in our Merchandising Department, which will pay you from $10,000 to $50,000 annually the remainder of your active business life.

Stock selling experience helpful, but unnecessary. We instruct you. Many of our representatives, working through cards of introduction which we furnish, are earning over $500 a week in commissions.

If you think you can qualify, call Monday only, before 2:30 P. M., Suite 414, 50 East 42d St.

ACCOUNTANTS NEEDED,
MEN AND WOMEN.

I want to hear from bookkeepers, cashiers, school teachers, office workers, stenographers and all capable men and women, either with or without bookkeeping experience, who are ambitious to get into higher accounting positions paying

$2,400 TO $6,000 A YEAR AT THE START.

The readjustment of commerce and industry to a peace basis, the reconstruction and reorganization of American business along more efficient lines, the more scientific analysis of costs to meet domestic and world competition and the necessity for accurate income and excess profits tax reports to the Government have created thousands of new and attractive opportunities for permanent positions in the higher accounting field.

At present we can supply only in a very limited way students and members to fill the numerous requests being received for cost accountants, auditors, junior and senior accountants, comptrollers, &c., &c. Government and business demands have exhausted the available supply of trained men and women.

So, our organization, having the largest staff of accounting and business efficiency experts in the world, is making every possible effort to help meet this unusual situation, and to that end I will interview men or women who desire to qualify for these positions by taking individual home training. This can be done without interfering with their present employment.

APPLICANTS WHO ARE ACCEPTED

will be placed under the direct personal supervision of one of our staff of certified public accountants and thoroughly trained in the special knowledge and practical procedure necessary to qualify for important accounting work.

Address for interview, giving age, position, education and telephone number, A. C. S., Post Office Box 63, Times Square Station.

Apartment House Ownership For the Small Investor
*Portional Purchase Plan
A New Idea

THE Harmon plan for placing home ownership within the reach of the apartment house occupant is, we believe, a scientific solution of the problem of rising rents for those who do not care to assume the responsibility of a house. We confidently expect its general adoption, and if conducted along lines of equity, we will welcome its use among other builders as a forward step in social economy.

The Portional Purchase Plan provides for the sale of apartment houses on the instalment plan at a very moderate price based on the gross annual rental, multiplied by seven. The fractional interests are sold in units of $1,000 and multiples thereof, payments covering a period of nine years, if desired. 6% interest is paid on the instalments from the first net earnings, the balance of the net earnings of the buildings being applied to the reduction of the mortgage indebtedness. The control and management of the property is held in trust by Wm. E. Harmon & Co., Inc., until the shares are paid for, when it is to be turned over to the shareholders, if the majority of them so desire. This provides for control by the shareholders, or, at their option, by the management which for nine previous years has proven its capacity to give satisfactory service. It is believed that on current rentals, 6% cash dividends can be paid, and about 4% applied to surplus, or the liquidation of the mortgage, and at the end of the instalment period 12% will be earned, with mortgage obligations so low as to be free from danger of further reduction calls.

Rising rents are not a menace—they are a certainty. The demand of labor for a higher scale of living permeates and affects the cost of all material entering into housing. This process has gone on for twenty years, and there is no reason to expect any radical change. All intelligent tenants view the situation with a full recognition of the facts.

The Harmon Portional Purchase Plan automatically checks the tendency to increasing rental demands on the family income. If you have purchased an interest in the apartment house you occupy, rising rents are instantly reflected in increased earnings. If living elsewhere, then the rise in the rent of the house you occupy is offset by a corresponding increase in the property you own, for rental increases are general rather than local.

We have begun the construction of seven high-class and thoroughly well-built apartment houses in the choicest locations in Flatbush on sites held for twenty years for this very purpose. The rents of these will range from $12 to $15 per room. It is estimated that the income from a $2,000 investment will save about $4 per room per month on a five-room apartment, or $5 per room on a four-room apartment. As the total number of suites now under construction are only a little over 100, it will be necessary to act quickly to be assured of space the coming Fall, or an unusual investment opportunity.

We do not care to sell shares in any given apartment house to those who cannot afford to live on the scale of its prices, although ownership of shares imposes no obligation of occupancy. Nor will we sell to any one who we believe would be an undesirable occupant. We will use the same discriminating care in selecting shareholders we exercise in selecting tenants.

Detailed literature will be mailed on application.

FLUSHING

FOR $5,000 CASH and a mortgage for $10,000, we will build for you a nine-room Dutch Colonial cottage and garage, on a plot 100 feet frontage, within a few minutes' walk of the Broadway Station, Flushing.

The house will be thoroughly modern and first-class in every respect, with large reception hall, living room, dining room, pantry, kitchen, laundry, 4 bedrooms and 3 baths. Parquet or plain hardwood floors, white or hardwood trim; electric light, gas, steam heat, glass enclosed steam-heated verandah, big open fireplace; basement under entire house; connection with city sewer system; cement walks and driveway.

The house alone, if built singly, would cost nearly as much as the price of the house and land, but we want to build 100 houses on our land in the Broadway section this year, and we will give purchasers the full benefit of wholesale buying and building for cash. Smaller houses, but with the same conveniences, will also be built for from $10,000 to $12,000, including the land. Write, call, or telephone for particulars.

Buy a Commercial Grapefruit Grove
AT LAKELAND HIGHLANDS

A 10-acre grapefruit grove will provide an income equivalent to 5% ON $50,000. The cost of a grove is only ONE-EIGHTH OF THIS SUM. Our Company conservatively estimated the net profits on a basis of only $5 PER TREE, or $240 PER ACRE, which is only one-fourth of the maximum returns on good groves. Even $5 per tree will NET 40% on the investment. The income on a grapefruit grove begins after the fifth year.

Our illustrated booklet answers all questions. Write for a copy and read it. Then, if you are in a position to finance a grove, visit the property and spend a week at the Country Club as our guest.

DOINGS AND SAYINGS IN THE REALTY WORLD

RENEWED INVESTMENT ACTIVITY THROUGHOUT LONG ISLAND

Demand for Small Homes in the Commuting Zone Far Greater Than the Supply—New Transit Lines Aid Development

The arrival of Spring brought with it renewed activity of the Long Island real estate market. Since the country entered the European war, two years ago, suburban real estate activity had been deadened, as a result of the Governmental ban on building material and general financial conditions that accompany war periods.

On every hand now there are many inquiries regarding suburban Long Island real estate, and sales are sufficiently numerous to demonstrate a strong undertone to market conditions. There is an acute shortage of dwellings for sale or rent, and in Nassau and Suffolk Counties especially. Every important community within the commuting zone on all divisions of the Long Island Railroad cannot satisfy the demand for homes.

This situation is due in part to the cessation of suburban house construction for a year or more past and to a renewed interest in suburban living by thousand of families who have resided in apartments throughout the greater city. When conditions are improving, suburban growth is fed by the exodus from the big centres. Besides, there are thousands of new families coming to New York every year who have been accustomed to living in detached houses and who desire suburban environment within commuting distance of Manhattan.

Woodhaven, in the southern part of Queens Borough, is fast losing its suburban character. Situated between the Brooklyn Borough line and Richmond Hill, it is being built solid with rows of two-story one and two family houses, especially the part of it between Jamaica and Atlantic Avenues. A municipal rapid transit route is now in operation along Jamaica Avenue from Cypress Hills Cemetery east to Grand Street, Jamaica, with numerous stations along the way; and Woodhaven has responded more rapidly to its influence than other sections of Queens that it penetrates. Jamaica Avenue, in Woodhaven, is now built solid with three-story flats and stores.

It is a logical thoroughfare and shopping centre, and is traffic fed besides by the rapid-transit route and trolley road.

The old residential centre of Jamaica—between Fulton Street and Hillside Avenue—is changing rapidly in structural appearance. Detached dwellings on spacious grounds are being superseded by rows of four and five story apartment houses and two-story one and two family houses.

The evidence of metropolitan expansion abounds throughout this part of Queens Borough. One can now travel between Park Row and Jamaica—ten miles for 5 cents—in less than an hour. Two years ago only the Long Island Railroad was the rapid-transit route, and the fare was 10 cents on a way train.

Elmhurst, Astoria, and Corona, important centres of Queens Borough, are now also served by municipal rapid transit for a five-cent fare. It is not so long ago that one bound for Astoria had to depend on the East Ninety-sixth Street Ferry as a route to and from Astoria, and Corona and Elmhurst were served by trolley from Long Island City and the Long Island Railroad.

There are striking contrasts in Queens nowadays. As the passenger rides along the new transit routes, that pass to a degree through expansive open sections, he will be reminded, if he is old enough, of similar situations when the Manhattan Elevated Railway first served Harlem and the upper west side, and when the original subway route through the Bronx looked out on old country estates being subdivided into city lots and streets being built through them.

The major part of Queens that is served by rapid transit is nearer to the heart of Manhattan than is Washington Heights and the Bronx.

The extensive real estate and building movement now in the bud will cause a complete transformation of all of Queens within the next decade as surely as elevated railroads changed structural and residential conditions and caused steady real estate activity in Harlem in the eighties and the upper west side in the nineties. Grant's Tomb was surrounded by rocks surmounted by itinerant goats when it was built.

Think of the centre of Harlem now and Riverside Drive, with its structural density! The five-cent fare and rapid transit is doing the same for Queens Borough, but the latter is five times as big as Manhattan in area.

The enormous modern factory district in Long Island City is creating a steady demand for apartment houses near by. Some of the large industries of America have settled there in recent years, and their thousands of employes must necessarily reside near their work.

Flushing, long conservative, staid, and beautiful, has not felt the urban impulse as strongly as other large centres of Queens, but its isolation in this respect cannot last for long. Urban contact is becoming too close.

Necessarily, the parts of Queens served by rapid transit will respond the more rapidly to building operations. Generally speaking, Queens is no longer a suburban borough. There are parts of it, such as Douglaston, Bayside, and the Rockaways, that will probably long be immune from urban conditions, but conditions are being created that will transform most of Queens into a great urban home centre in most of its parts and in much quicker time than the outlying sections of Brooklyn sprung to residential life in the early nineties.

The pending problem for Queens Borough is the building of streets through the hilly sections and the reduction of hills to grade. But her problem in this regard is not as complex as the one the Bronx had to solve. The northern borough had to cut streets through hills of rock and lay sewers and excavate for building foundations amid solid rock, whereas Queens is composed of sand and loam, and the cost of reducing hills and making municipal improvements is much less.

A general street system in Queens must contend with the Long Island Railroad, which has many branches running through it; and the circumstance means the elimination of thousands of grade crossings in sections that will be built upon within a few years. New rapid-transit routes have made an irresistible urban trend of population to Queens Borough; and real estate men assert that Queens will solve its street system problems as thoroughly as Manhattan and the Bronx have settled theirs.

Nassau County—directly east of Queens—is destined to be in its southern half a district of suburban homes on plots ranging in size from 50 by 100 to a quarter acre. The smallest county in the State in area, Nassau has in Freeport the largest incorporated village in the State, containing as it does more than 10,000 persons. Rockville Centre, near by, is a keen competitor of Freeport, while Baldwin Harbor, lying between them, is growing toward each. The shore front of Freeport and of Baldwin Harbor, both on Hempstead Bay, has witnessed many structural and physical improvements in recent years, and a steady real estate movement during the next five years will cause the complete upbuilding of their shore line with all-year suburban homes.

Home sites in the part of Freeport easy of access to the railroad are worth from $20 to $30 a front foot, except corner plots, which run higher in price. The same prices apply to similar parts of Rockville Centre.

A striking feature of home building in Southern Nassau County was the erection of hundreds of moderate-priced houses on plots 50 by 100 feet or larger at Bellmore and at Smithville South, the latter place being a mile or more from a railroad station. Every house is sold and occupied. They are occupied primarily by young married couples, the heads of each family commuting to and from the city daily. New building movements are about to be begun in these communities.

*Lynbrook is another Southern Nassau County village that is in the throes of real estate demand at this time; and in its central part it gives indications of becoming urban in character. Situated at the junction of the Montauk and Long Beach Divisions of the railroad, it has excellent train service. The busy business centre of Lynbrook demonstrates the steady growth of the entire place. Although thrice burned down, the business section has risen phoenix-like to more substantial proportions after each conflagration. Lynbrook is the shopping centre for East Rockaway two miles to the south.

Mineola—the seat of Nassau County—progresses steadily along substantial lines. It has become a strong financial centre of Long Island. It is the hub of numerous trolley lines radiating through the county and into Queens County adjoining. Numerous substantial suburban homes have been built in the part of Mineola adjacent to Jericho turnpike and close to the trolley road leading to and from Roslyn and other north shore points. All signs at this time point to a strong revival of real estate activity throughout Mineola. The village has the distinction of being the only place so named in the world.

What Mineola needs more than anything else to make a good impression on the outside world is a new and modern railroad station. The one it has is ante-diluvian in appearance; and the residents of Mineola concede the fact. It is hoped that the growing importance of Mineola will impel the building of an attractive station there.

Floral Park, just inside Nassau County from Greater New York, is witnessing a revival of home building. A few days ago eight new detached dwellings were begun, and they will be ready for early Autumn occupancy. Floral Park is on the electrified part of the main line of the railroad and is linked to both the north and south sides of Nassau County, as well as Brooklyn and Jamaica, by a trolley road. So are Mineola, Hempstead, Freeport, Baldwin Harbor, Rockville Centre, Roosevelt, and Lynbrook.

One of the oldest communities in the State, Hempstead, has a conservative growth and a steady expansion in all directions, with Garden City as an adjunct. Now that suburban real estate is coming into its own, Hempstead will be in the forefront of market activity in Nassau County. It forms, too, the shopping and financial centre of the Wheatley Hills region a few miles away that abounds in landed estates of wealthy men. Some of them are Directors and officials in Hempstead's banks, as some of them are also in the banks and trust companies of Mineola.

The residential accessions to the Wheatley Hills region represent captains of industry, finance, and the law from all parts of the island. With the gradual adjustment of business conditions, a heavy movement of high-class acreage there is anticipated. Prices range from $1,000 to $3,000 an acre, according to particular location; none of it is shorefront property.

Western Suffolk County is becoming more suburban yearly. From the Nassau County line, just west of Amityville, easterly to Patchogue, the demand grows stronger for suburban homes on acreage plots as distinguished from Southern Nassau County, where houses on plots of less than an acre predominate. Nassau County is now supplanting Queens County as a territory of suburban homes on small plots; and the semi-rural area is being pushed into Western Suffolk. This is well illustrated in Amityville, Babylon, and Brightwaters.

The easterly trend year on year in Long Island would seem to prove what the late President Baldwin of the Long Island Railroad once said, that the western half of the island would eventually be for all practical purposes a residential part of New York. Practically all of the shorefront of Brightwaters had been sold and the real estate movement there now is in the oaks and pines section, north of the railroad. The casino, bathing facilities, and club features of Brightwaters were recently placed in the hands of a holding corporation for the purpose of insuring the tone of this shorefront home colony. The harbor facilities are now being improved.

Amityville yet awaits a big building movement in the vicinity of Grand Central Avenue, east of the creek and between South Country Road and Great South Bay. The demand for houses in this village exceeds the supply. Plans are being prepared for the building of numerous dwellings this Spring. House rentals have increased appreciably.

A serious menace to the sale and improvement of property in Western Suffolk County is presented by the threat of the Long Island Railroad Company to discontinue the operation of the cross-island trolley road from Amityville to Huntington, which has been running since 1909. Several important land developments have been made along the line of the road. It is asserted that the trolley road does not pay expenses and that there is no immediate prospects of its doing so. The final action of the company officials is eagerly awaited. The road is still being operated as usual. A petition was made to the Public Service Commission to allow an increase of the fare to 7 cents in each fare zone, but the request was denied. The fare now is 5 cents.

There is a new form of activity in the woodlands of Central Suffolk County or the middle of Long Island. Men of wealth who are interested in game breeding are considering the purchase of large tracts of land there for the purpose. In fact, some sales have already been made. This innovation, if it grows extensively enough, will solve the problem of what to do with the vast stretches of woodland wilderness along the main line of the railroad.

It will be recalled that an effort was made a decade or more ago to have the State acquire a large area in Central Suffolk County and create a game preserve there; but it did not succeed.

BROOKLYN PROPERTY DEMAND ALMOST EQUALS BOOM OF 1906

Many Private Dwellings for Sale, But Few for Rent—Tenants in Many Cases Forced to Move by Sale of Property

Brooklyn real estate men are of the opinion that the biggest realty boom of many years has begun in their borough and that by early Fall the market will equal that of the memorable years of 1906 and 1907. Already the demand for houses is so great that many tenants are becoming owners of the premises they occupy in order not to be forced out by other buyers. The sale of vacant plots for immediate improvement has also begun in spite of the fact that building materials are still quoted at prices that are almost prohibitive.

Thomas Hovenden of the Chauncey Real Estate Co., Ltd., believes that the greatest realty market in the history of Brooklyn is at hand. In commenting on conditions he said: "We have been busier for the past few months than at any time for several years. I look for a lull in the present activity during the coming Victory Loan but I believe that by September we will see the biggest market Brooklyn has known. Already investors are beginning to enter the lists of purchasers, for they know that there is no better investment than realty. There is a marked shortage of dwellings in Brooklyn and the result is that before long builders will begin extensive developments on vacant properties. Everything points to a market of great proportions."

John F. James & Sons, Inc., concur with Mr. Hovenden in his prediction of a strong and steady market. Their business increased almost simultaneously with the signing of the armistice and has kept steadily active ever since. Their field covers all of Brooklyn and they report that in every section of the city the realty market is equally active.

A marked indication of the coming building boom is the large number of plans filed for new work during the month of March. To date the plans approved by the Brooklyn Bureau of Public Buildings for that period show construction totaling about $4,000,000 to be under way. Among the more important items are the following:

The St. Mark's Amusement Company has filed plans for a 2,400-seat theatre to replace the Carlton Theatre and Airdrome at Flatbush and Seventh Avenues. It will cost $250,000. The officers of the St. Mark's Amusement Company are: Thomas A. Duffey, President, and William Brandt, General Manager.

Louis Halperin, two four-story brick twenty-eight family apartments 60 by 88 feet, to cost $90,000, on the north side of Saratoga Avenue, 180 feet north of Livonia Avenue.

Katherin Building Company, four two-story frame dwellings, 24 by 48 feet, to cost $40,000, northwest corner of Twenty-first Avenue and Eightieth Street.

Max Robinson, one one-story garage, 100 by 150 feet, to cost $35,000, southwest corner of Pitkin Avenue and Hinsdale Avenue.

Oscar Palmioat, one four-story brick twenty-family apartment, 98 by 60 feet, to cost $80,000, and one cottage, 20 by 22 feet, to cost $2,000, northwest corner of Ridge Boulevard and Eighty-second Street.

H. J. Wolf Construction Company, fifteen two-story brick one-family dwellings, 18 by 45 feet, north side of Eighty-first Street, 170 feet west of Sixth Avenue.

Samuel Ageloff, one one-story brick garage, 81 by 115 feet, to cost $20,000, on the south side of De Kalb Avenue, 201 feet east of Tompkins Avenue.

Senator Holding Company, four two-story brick two-family dwellings, 20 by 62 feet, to cost $40,000, southwest corner Seventy-eighth Street and Sixth Avenue.

Realty Supply Corporation, one one-story private garage, 125 by 100 feet, to cost $35,000, northwest corner of Franklin Avenue and Sixty-fifth Street.

Joseph Spielberg, one two-story brick extension to theatre, stores, and offices, to cost $75,000, east side of Stone Avenue, 140 feet south of Pitkin Avenue.

Nicholas Rubenstein, ten three-story brick two-family dwellings to cost $70,000, west side of West Thirty-seventh Street., entire block between Neptune and Lyme avenues; two corner buildings, 20 by 80 feet, and eight inside buildings, 20 by 35 feet.

Walter Kralsar, five two-story brick one-family dwellings, 18 by 44 feet, to cost $25,000, west side of Stratford Road, 18 feet north of Church Avenue.

Wayne County Produce Company, one two-story brick extension to office and storage building, to cost $18,000, west side of Newell Street, 95 feet north of Calyer Street.

In the Flatbush section the demand for houses has been without precedent. J. D. O'Connell, Jr., a broker operating in that district, declares that the growth of Brooklyn's population, while quiet, has been enormous. "The congestion has been greatly increased," said Mr. O'Connell, "by the cessation in private building during the past two or three years of the war period, in a portion of which the Government monopolized all the building material of the country, and labor."

The demand is especially marked along the line of the new subway extensions now approaching completion. One of the greatest beneficiaries, Mr. O'Connell says, is the Flatbush section, where the demand for high-class one-family dwelling property, much of which has been begging for customers for three or four years past, is unprecedented.

Among the important Brooklyn transactions of last week are the following:

The Realty Trust sold for the Lorraine Realty Company the one-family stucco and frame dwellings, 1,919 and 1,939 Sixty-sixth Street, Mapleton Park, to Israel N. Shapiro and Ethel Shapiro, respectively.

Samuel Galitzka sold for I. Charles Zimmerman to a client for occupancy the two-story one-family house, with garage, on a plot 25 by 100, 936 East Thirteenth Street, Flatbush.

I. Salzberg sold for M. Wolsk to Dr. Posner the two-family cottage, on a plot 40 by 100, known as 1,466 Forty-sixth Street.

The Meister Builders, Inc., resold to the Nolas Realty Company two six-story tenements, 266 to 272 South First Street, on a plot 80 by 100. This property was held at $90,000 and is a part of the property lately purchased from the H. Batterman estate.

Sarah M. Young sold the two-story two-family house on plot 40 by 100 at 1,040 East Twelfth Street to a client of Samuel Galitzka.

Eliza S. Faber sold the one-family brick house at 439 Eighty-first Street to a client of Walter S. Ross and C. C. Gretsinger, who will occupy the premises.

The John B. Bradley Company sold 7,908 Ridge Boulevard, one of its detached duplex houses which occupy the block front between Seventy-ninth and Eightieth Streets.

Samuel Galitzka sold for the Miller Bergs Construction Company, to a client for occupancy, the two-story one-family house with garage, on a plot 30 by 100, at 1,400 East Eighteenth Street.

Cahn & Pittman sold the two and one-half-story frame dwelling on lot 35 by 100 at 1,754 East Fourteenth Street to Bernard Carneol through James Thorndike.

Meister Builders, Inc., sold the two-family brick house at 1,645 Eighty-fourth Street to N. Grippo for occupancy.

Mary A. Sullivan sold the three-story brick single flat at 229 Seventh Street to Christian L. Meyer through F. C. Sauter.

Rufus T. Griggs sold the plot 60 by 100 on the north side of Seventy-first Street, 220 feet east of Thirteenth Avenue, to Palermo Brothers, who will immediately improve the property with three two-family brick houses. B. J. Sforza negotiated the sale.

Meister Builders, Inc., sold the four two-family brick houses at 1,646 to 1,652 Eighty-third Street to E. Killmenson, operator.

Walter Schmidt bought the three-story brick three-family house at 586 Tenth Street from Hannah Rose through F. C. Sauter.

Realty Estates bought two apartment houses, held at $70,000, at 824 to 828 Eastern Parkway, from the Kellner Construction Company.

C. L. Jacobs bought a plot 80 by 120 on the east side of East Seventh Street, 200 feet south of Avenue I, from William E. Harmon & Co., through Samuel Galitzka. The buyer will immediately improve the property with two one-family houses to cost $30,000.

The R. & H. Building Corporation sold a plot at the southwest corner of Avenue P and East Fourteenth Street to a client of William Liss, Inc.

Florence Fields sold the business building at 7,503 Third Avenue to an investing Client of Walter S. Ross and Charles C. Gretsinger.

The Land Estates, Inc., sold to the Avondale Building Corporation, through William Liss, Inc., the northeast corner of Avenue R and East Fourteenth Street, a plot 100 by 100.

The United States Trust Company sold the two-story and basement high-stoop frame dwelling on lot 20 by 100, at 1,004 Lafayette Avenue, to a client of Horace S. Ely & Co.

The majority of Brooklyn brokers have nothing in the way of a one-family dwelling to rent, but many for sale. Tenants of private dwellings whose leases expire this May will be obliged to move in many cases, for the properties have been sold. Just where these people are going to find new houses is a problem, for apartments, both large and small, are as scarce as private dwellings, and the majority of brokers' offices have long waiting lists of prospective tenants.

TWO HUNDRED PROPERTIES IN OLD MIDTOWN LOFT ZONE SOLD

Many Commercial Structures Between Canal and Thirty-Fourth Streets Carried for Years at a Loss Bought by Operators at Bargain Prices

Nearly two hundred pieces of commercial property changed hands in the district between Canal and Thirty-fourth Streets in the twelve months ended March 1, 1919. Many of these sales, from a real estate standpoint, are very interesting.

In numerous instances they have been made by institutions which became the possessors under foreclosure and are now grasping at the first opportunity to dispose of their holdings.

It is a curious fact that, except for a few buildings which were bought for occupancy, most of the sales were made to professional operators who have been out of the buying market for many years.

It is also interesting to see that loft property was the first to which these speculators and operators responded. The reason is quite apparent. Buildings of great value had been foreclosed on because of the low rentals which prevailed. But the demand for space sent the renting value soaring upward, and with increased rentals came an enlarged earning power.

Buildings that for years were carried at a loss by various owners, banks, and institutions were turned for the first time from a loss to a profit account. Institutions have sold, taking back long-term mortgages often on an amortization basis, in this way removing the dread of expiring mortgages with large payments.

The inference from this activity in loft buildings is that investors will follow the operators. For speculators do not buy without some degree of assurance that they can sell at profit.

It is indeed difficult to understand why some of the property has been sold at abnormally low prices after it has gone through such distressing periods during which mortgages were reduced, losses on carrying charges taken, and the throes of panics suffered. Despite all this, the moment there was evidence that the property was being stabilized it was sold at what must have been discouraging prices.

Of the two hundred interesting sales made during the year, the following stand out most prominently: Nos. 476, 478, 491, 543, and 580 Broadway; 228, 233, and 255 Fifth Avenue; 91 and 99 Mercer Street, 40 and 56 University Place, 8 Washington Place, 48, 50, 73, 75, 178 and 183 Wooster Place; 68 and 68½ Greene Street, 57 and 59 East Eleventh Street, 16 East Eighteenth Street, 106 East Nineteenth Street, 155 and 159 East Twenty-third Street, 43 and 47 West Sixteenth Street, 17, 19, 26, 32, 21, 27, 120, and 131 West Seventeenth Street, 135 and 139 West Twentieth Street, 58 and 62 West Twenty-first Street, 150 and 154 West Twenty-second Street, 40, 42, 28, and 32 West Twenty-seventh Street.

Discussing the buying movement, A. Rabinowitz of Spear & Co. said yesterday: "The great surprise in this movement is the sale by the Adams Express Company of four pieces of choice property at unreasonably low prices.

"I refer to property at 476 and 478 Broadway, 491 Broadway, 580 to 586 Broadway, and 121 to 125 West Seventeenth Street.

"If the sale of these numerous holdings, many of them equal to the finest loft buildings in the city, indicates anything, it is a noteworthy return of confidence. It was only two or three years ago that a large percentage of lofts contained vacant space and that foreclosures were a common occurrence and owners were averse to making simple repairs to attract tenants.

"But this return of prosperity is so short a time seems to be an assurance that loft property and particularly the better structures are sound purchases and sound investments; provided, of course, they are purchased with care and forethought and under proper advice.

"The market has not yet reached the highest rental values nor the highest sales price. There is an infinitesimal amount of space vacant and a correspondingly small number of leases expiring in 1920. In the competition for manufacturing space rents will unquestionably be increased. With these increased rentals there should be a corresponding increase in value, for the stabilizing effect of this movement is very marked."

The same broker resold the property for Mrs. Carey to an investor.

The owners are Joseph and Harry Kruvant of 31 Walnut Street. It will be known as the "Military Plaza." Only last week it was announced that an addition doubling the present accommodations of the Robert Treat Hotel would be started soon, giving that hotel 800 rooms.

$11,000,000 IN QUEENS MORTGAGES

Over $11,000,000 was invested in mortgages in the Borough of Queens during the year 1918.

This sum is about 60 per cent. of the total loaned in the most active year in building and real estate transactions. Viewed from the standpoint of the real estate operator and the investor and those who are promoting the advancement of Queens, it is a more than satisfactory situation.

Coupled with this is the report from the County Clerk's office that during the year there were canceled permanently mortgages on Queens property to the amount of more than $1,345,000.

These are indications that real estate in Queens is upon a satisfactory basis and worthy of as much attention as that of any other borough of the city.

A most important consideration is that more than $5,000,000 of the sum invested in mortgages was by others than title and trust companies and banks. Almost all of this sum was taken by investors who acknowledge the firm basis upon which loans are placed in Queens and the intrinsic value of the borough's real estate.

These investors have been influenced by the rate of 6 per cent. which now prevails for mortgages. Inquiry among the institutions who have mortgages for sale to investors brought forth the statement that neither private individuals nor institutions could supply the demand that is made for high-class mortgages for investment.

The monthly record of mortgages shows a gradual increase in the loans taken from the first of the year. This is due, according to the experts, to the fact that individuals, as they accumulated savings from increased income during the war activities of industrial and other enterprises, invested in real estate.

The leading title companies have been the most active leaders, although the building and loan associations and the savings banks have put out large sums. There were no great amounts put out as trust mortgages.

The amounts loaned by the several companies were:

Property at Auction.

A diversified list of investment and speculative properties in Manhattan and the Bronx, consisting of private dwellings, tenements, and vacant plots, comprise the special sales day which Joseph P. Day is to conduct Tuesday, April 8, in the Vesey Street salesroom.

A parcel possessing some little historic interest worthy of mention are the buildings 285, 287, 287½, and 289 Bowery, near East Houston Street. On the same site, in 1849, John T. Fischer established the Fischer Marble Works, which was one of the largest concerns in the city carrying on a business of interior decorating of marble and stone.

Other parcels included in the sale are as follows:

Three hundred and seventy-six Bleecker Street, near Perry Street, a four-story brick tenement, size 21.3 by 70; southeast corner Jane and West Fourth Street, three-story brick store and dwelling, size 22 by 55; 211 Seventh Avenue, near Thirty-second Street, four-story tenement and store, size 16.5 by 60; 3,073 to 3,077 Webster Avenue, near 204th Street, three three-story frame private dwellings, size of plot 50 by 120; northeast corner Stebbins Avenue and 170th Street, vacant, size 100 by 105; a lot on west side of Brook Avenue, near 168th Street, size 25 by 35; a plot on west side of Jerome Avenue, 100 feet north of 163d Street, size 50 by 100.

Electricity Used Last Year.

Consumers of electric current in New York City took 937,118,423 kilowatts during the last fiscal year, costing $40,802,469, an increase of $2,100,000 over 1917.

TENANTS DEMAND ACTION

The case of the tenants of the Langhorne apartment house, at 860 Riverside Drive, who protested against an increase of $7.50 a room, will be presented to the April Grand Jury. The tenants' committee, headed by L. W. Willis, has made a request to District Attorney Swann for an investigation to determine whether or not a criminal offense has been committed, and John T. Dooling and J. H. Banton, Assistant District Attorneys, have been placed in charge of the investigation.

The tenants' committee has also decided to appeal to the Board of Aldermen and the State Legislature for protection not only on their own account, but for the benefit of all rent-payers in the city. "We are seeking a thorough official investigation," said a member of the committee yesterday, "and hope to make this a test case. Upon the outcome rests the question of whether landlords will be allowed, by transferring their apartment house property, to repudiate all leases and increase the rent to any extent that they may see fit."

Assistant District Attorney John T. Dooling, when asked on what basis a criminal charge could be brought against an owner, said:

"Section 580 of the Penal Law, subdivision No. 6, says: 'If two or more persons conspire to commit any act for the perversion or obstruction of justice or of the due administration of the law they are guilty of a misdemeanor under this section.'

"In this case we find that, according to the records on file in the County Clerk's Office, an action was started to foreclose a mortgage for the non-payment of taxes. In that action a receiver was appointed for the collection of the rents of the premises. The receiver thereupon appointed the President of the plaintiff mortgage company as his agent to collect the rents and manage the property.

"Shortly thereafter the receiver was discharged, but the same President of the plaintiff mortgage company continued to collect the rents.

"We are informed that the tenants in the house were told that the foreclosure action would in no way affect their leases and that they would be permitted to remain undisturbed until the termination of the leases. Moreover, some of them claimed that they were not properly served with the notice of the foreclosure suit, although one of the tenants appeared in the action, represented by a relative, who was a lawyer.

"Then the judgment of foreclosure and sale was entered. It provided that the property should be sold and bids received subject to the leases and existing tenancies. The notice of sale was published in two newspapers, and provided that the property was to be sold subject to leases and existing tenancies. The terms of sale read by the auctioneer on the day of sale were to the same effect, and people bid on the strength of this statement.

"After the property had been knocked down an affidavit was presented to the court, claiming that the judgment originally entered had inadvertently provided that the property should be sold subject to leases, and the court was asked to amend the judgment nunc pro tunc.

"That order was consented to by the attorneys who had appeared in the action, and the judgment was amended accordingly, although the property had been sold subject to the leases. The tenants claim that these acts were for the perversion and obstruction of justice and of the due administration of the law.

"They claim that they were not consulted in the matter, and they were lulled into a state of security under the belief that their leases would in no way be affected by the suit. The District Attorney's office is still investigating the case, but has not yet completed its inquiry."
